If a piña colada on the beach isn't your thing, consider an active weekend on this lesser-known, volcanic island, 28 miles southwest of St. Maarten, where hiking and diving headline the daily agenda. Above ground, pick one of the myriad hiking trails through the five-square-mile island, which will take you through mist-shrouded mountains and verdant rainforest. Or go below the surface to one of 30 dive sites, home to over 150 species of fish and ethereal, underground pinnacles. Despite its remote location, a touch of luxury has made its way to this uncomplicated island in the form of the boutique Queen's Gardens Resort.
